Sen. McCarthy In Capital To Defend Himself

'Verdict' On Army Hearing Being Readied By Investigators

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he will call no defense witnesses in the Senate's "trial" of his conduct which will start here tomorrow.

Flying in from Los Angeles for the new inquiry, and to learn the verdict seven fellow senators have reached in the McCarthy-Army hearings, McCarthy said he is ready to testify in his own behalf in the new inquiry, if he is requested to do so. But he indicated no desire to testify.

His hope, he said, is for a quick windup of the inquiry, which he termed "a great waste of time."

"I will cooperate to get this thing out of the way as quickly as possible," McCarthy said. "It holds up my plans for an active Republican campaign speaking tour, and for investigations—I can't plan anything."

A special bipartisan committee headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) planned a closed-door meeting later in the day to complete plans for the scheduled start tomorrow of public hearings on a resolution to censure McCarthy for what Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) has charged was conduct "unbecoming a senator" and tending to bring "disrepute" on the Senate.

ON ANOTHER front, the three Democratic members of the Senate Investigations subcommittee sought to complete before a 5 p. m. deadline their minority report on the 36-day McCarthy-Army hearings which ended June 17.

The subcommittee's four Republican members already have filed their sealed majority views on what, if anything, was proved of the charges and countercharges.

Indictments To Total 500 In Phenix City

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP)—A dramatic new chapter in the tale of vice and corruption in fabulous Phenix City unfolded today with a grand jury report expected to contain more than 500 indictments.

Special Judge Walter B. Jones called Circuit Court into session to receive the first presentation three weeks after the 18-man blue ribbon jury began its investigation of widespread racketeering.

Picked teams of National Guardsmen stood ready to arrest the defendants named in the indictments, greatest number ever returned by a grand jury in Alabama. Until the arrests are made, the names of those indicted must remain secret.

Multiple indictments against some of the gambling big shots were expected to account for many of the anticipated 500-odd true bills. As many as 50 indictments were believed likely against some individuals.

Still others may come later in the continuing vice cleanup. Special Solicitor Prosecutor George C. Johnson said the jury would go right back to work as soon as the initial report was filed.

It was almost a foregone conclusion, however, that the first interim report would contain no indictments for the murder of anti-vice crusader A. L. Paterson, whose death on June 18 started the unprecedented vice purge in Phenix City, where wide-open gambling flourished for years.

Democrat Candidates Pledge Battle For Rigid Supports

SIOUX FALLS, S. D. (AP)—Democratic candidates for Congress from 15 Midwestern states today pledged to work for re-establishment of high, rigid price supports on farm products.

Though they got no solid support for their views from Adlai Stevenson, the three dozen nominees for the Senate and House made the pledge yesterday in a joint statement after a party agricultural conference here.

Rigid price supports were knocked out by the administration's new farm bill, signed only last Saturday by President Eisenhower.

Stevenson, the Democrats' 1952 presidential nominee and titular leader of the party, indicated in his speech closing the conference Saturday night that he did not know the permanent formula for keeping farmers prosperous.

"Perhaps," he said, "the solution does not lie in just the alternatives of the so-called flexible supports demanded by the administration and the 90 per cent supports."

The Democratic leader did denounce President Eisenhower for what he called a "cynical and total breach of promise" to farmers in obtaining enactment of the new law based on flexible price supports.

Under this law, price guarantees are high in time of shortages to encourage production and low in times of surpluses to discourage overproduction.

Stevenson referred to Eisenhower's Kasson, Minn., speech in September, 1952, as "a perfidious day."

In his speech at Kasson, Eisenhower said in part:

"And here, and now, without any 'ifs' or 'buts,' I say to you that I stand behind—and the Republican party stands behind—the price support laws now on the books. This includes the amendment to the Basic Farm Act, passed by votes of both parties in Congress, to continue through 1954 the price supports on basic commodities at 90 per cent of parity."

"I firmly believe that agriculture is entitled to a fair, full share of the national income and it must be a policy of government to help agriculture achieve this goal in ways that minimize government control and protect the farmers' independence. All I know of farmers convinces me that they would rather earn their fair share than to have it as a government handout."

"And a fair share is not merely 90 per cent of parity—it is full parity."

His own feeling, Stevenson said, was that the war-born high supports should have been kept "at this time" as a stabilizer.

Party members favoring high supports cheered Stevenson's attack on Eisenhower and the Republican-controlled Congress, but they did not applaud when he said perhaps other solutions to the farm problem should be sought.

In their statement, the congressional candidates said, "We still stand squarely behind the 1952 Democratic platform, which pledges our party to price supports at not less than 90 per cent of parity."

The statement added that Eisenhower had promised "full parity" during his campaign but had "broken faith" with farmers in obtaining flexible floors.

Current supports, due to expire at the end of the year, are at 90 per cent of parity for major crops. Under the new law, they may vary from 82.5 and 90 per cent in 1955 and from 75 to 90 after that. Parity is a price declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they must pay.

Most of the Democratic leaders attending the conference said they felt 90 per cent supports were necessary. Among those expressing that view in open meeting were U. S. Senators Humphrey of Minnesota and Gillette of Iowa, former U. S. Sen. George McGill of Kansas, and former Secretaries of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard and Charles F. Brannan.

Commissioners OK 'Scoreboard' Plan

Pickaway County Commissioners have put their stamp of approval on a proposed traffic "scoreboard."

The plan will next go to the Circleville Chamber of Commerce at their regular meeting Sept. 7.

According to tentative plans, the "scoreboard" will be modeled after one in Columbus. This will mean that it will be approximately 10 feet high, painted white.

At the present time, the plans call for the "scoreboard" to be placed in front of the county courthouse. This will list the number of fatal accidents in the area in one year as compared with the previous year.

THE SAME will be done with the number of persons injured in accident throughout the county which are reported to authorities.

The plan has already been okayed by Sheriff Charles Radcliff, Circleville Police Chief Elmer Merriam and State Patrolman Bob Greene.

Unofficially, the rate of accidents and fatalities in the area has risen sharply in the past couple of months. On Aug. 14, two persons were killed and six others injured in a two-car crash at the intersection of Routes 22 and 277 near New Holland.

Two days later, a truck driver, fixing his disabled vehicle south of the Franklin-Pickaway County line on Route 23, was struck by a second truck. He died a week later.

The county commissioners agreed that the project would be of great civic and community interest. They said it was now up to the local chamber of commerce.

TO DATE, deaths in the county stand at 12. Injuries to persons are nearing the 200 mark.

More definite plans will be available after the chamber of commerce meeting.

Paulding Police Question Indianan In Slaying Case

PAULDING (AP)—Police today questioned a 27-year-old Urbana, Ind., man who they said told them he was asleep in a car at the gas station where Harley Parson, 47, was shot to death yesterday.

Parson's body was found in a washroom with three bullet wounds in the head. Police said no money was taken from the cash register and no weapon was found.

Parson operated the all-night gas station and ice cream stand on U. S. 127 just south of here.

The Indiana man was quoted by police as saying he heard no gun shots while sleeping in his car. He said he had asked permission earlier to sleep at the station.

Parson was married and the father of three children. His body was found at 6 a. m. Sunday by four youths who stopped for gas. Two of the youths were from New Lebanon and two from Trotwood, both in the Dayton area. The four were released yesterday after questioning by police.

2 More GIs At Air Base Tied To Sect

COLUMBUS (AP)—Lockbourne Air Force Base authorities said today two more men suspected of membership in the "Pacheco," secret hoodlum society, have been found on the base.

Earlier, three men held on charges of being AWOL were listed as suspected members. Since then one of the three has been returned to his home base at Chanute Field, Ill.

Lt. Talbot A. Love, base public information officer, said one of the original suspects, talkative since the tattoo marking of the society had been found on him, admitted being a leader of a "society area." The Air Force made no disclosure of what area was involved.

"We are not disclosing names or the area, because the men might be killed later by other members," Lt. Love said.

Ike Is 'Pleased' As Shivers Wins

DALLAS (AP)—President Eisenhower is "highly pleased" at the re-election of Texas Gov. Allan Shivers, a conservative Democrat who supported Republican Eisenhower in 1952.

Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell says he does not consider Shivers' victory an indication of any national trend or of "anything about Eisenhower."

Shivers rode a record Texas primary vote Saturday to victory over Austin Atty. Ralph Yarborough, who was backed by liberal Texas Democrats.

Debate, Vote On Pact Delayed As Leaders Jockey For Position

PARIS (AP)—The French National Assembly voted tonight on a procedural motion which would have the effect of killing the present European Army plan without further debate. Unofficial reports said the motion passed, 317-274.

PARIS (AP)—The French National Assembly today interrupted debate on the European Army Treaty to-day after one of its supporters insisted on an immediate call for new negotiations to change the treaty.

This move by the group in favor of the European Defense Community Pact immediately brought a counter move by the opponents to shut off the debate and bury EDC without further talk.

The morning session of the Assembly was devoted exclusively to the questions of procedure. None of the approximately 60 orators wanting to talk about the treaty itself had a chance to speak.

Under parliamentary rules, a decision on these motions must take precedence over the rest of the debate. A truce was reached yesterday and both supporters and adherents of EDC agreed to withdraw their opposing motions to permit the general talks to proceed.

THIS MORNING, the pro-EDC group had a change of heart and the resolution calling for new talks with the other five EDC nations was reinstated. So was the anti-EDC motion.

Parliamentary experts were trying to figure out a solution. Both factions were working to line up votes for their side.

The motion submitted by Alfred Chupin of the small Union of Democratic and Socialist Resistance, said that there is reason "to invite the government to follow up its efforts, prior to the vote on the treaty, for an agreement among the signing nations on the basis of the project of protocol submitted by France at Brussels and to re-

107,000 Turn Out Sunday For Ohio's Big State Fair

COLUMBUS (AP)—An estimated 107,000 persons thronged the Ohio State fairgrounds here yesterday as veterans joined with the military to stage a colorful salute to the armed forces.

Although short of the record 124,000 attendance a year ago Sunday, yesterday's crowd was the largest of the 1954 fair, which opened Friday.

One highlight was the "capture" of a pill box by 20 Marines using a bazooka and a flamethrower.

A parade and drum and bugle corps demonstrations were other features.

One casualty of the fair was 4-year-old Elizabeth Rupp of Columbus, who died yesterday of injuries received when she fell from a ramp during a children's style show.

Fair officials said the girl slipped and fell about five feet during the show at the Arts building.

Winners in the drum and bugle corps contest were Massillon American Legion Post 221 which took the $600 first prize, Bellefontaine American Legion Post 134 was second winning $500, and post 318 at Forestville took $400 for third.

New Pastor Jingling Keys In Defiance Church Dispute

Belated "going-away" gifts to the Rev. and Mrs. Robert B. Weaver were presented here Sunday night at a gathering at the Methodist church after a court injunction gave him the keys to his newly assigned church in Defiance.

Vaden Couch, president of the official board, made the presentation. The Rev. Mr. Weaver was given a briefcase while Mrs. Weaver received a sterling silver service.

"This briefcase is very appropriate," the pastor remarked to the gathering, "with all the legal work I have now."

The Rev. Mr. Weaver was referring to his disputed newly assigned post at Defiance. There have been several lawsuits entered by both the pastor and the small group trying to prevent him from assuming his full duties there.

"I BELIEVE it is all just a matter of time now," he said. "It is now a community problem, not just one concerning the Methodists. We are very optimistic."

He added that Sunday services there have been attended by capacity audiences since he arrived. He said he has received a great deal of encouragement both in person and by mail.

"We believe we will have a better, stronger church out of this struggle," The Rev. Mr. Weaver pointed out. "There is just a very small group still defiant in Defiance."

The Rev. Mr. Weaver today jingled a set of keys to all property of St. Paul's Methodist Church in Defiance for the first time. There is one notable exception—the parsonage.

Rev. Mr. Weaver conducted a marriage ceremony in the church Saturday after having received a temporary injunction in court against Joseph Richards, former St. Paul's pastor who turned in his minister's credentials in a dispute with officials of the Ohio Methodist Conference.

IN ADDITION to gaining control of the church building, the court also granted Rev. Mr. Weaver the right to hold all normal religious services and activities in the church "without interference."

Following the marriage rites, which had been threatened when Richards told the Weaver-appointed organist that if she attempted to man the musical instrument he would turn off the electric current. Rev. Mr. Weaver took his first look at the church as a whole.

Prior to Saturday, the new pastor had entered the sanctuary of the church only in time for Sunday morning services and had seen only in the main vestibule.

And after the tour, Rev. Mr. Weaver, aided by 20-odd members of St. Paul's, manned brooms, sweepers and mop buckets to give the church its first cleaning since the dispute flared last June.

The disagreement arose when Rev. Mr. Weaver was assigned from Circleville to Defiance. Richards protested, tossed in his clerical's credentials and stood pat. He

This Tagged No. 1 On His 1955 Program

Legion Given Promise Plan Will Not Be Burden Upon Ex-GIs

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told the American Legion today that creation of a military reserve as a bulwark against communism will be No. 1 item on his 1955 legislative program.

"We have failed miserably to maintain that strong, ready military reserve in which we have believed for 150 years," the President declared in a speech at the legion's annual convention here.

"Now, at long last, we must build such a reserve. And we must maintain it. Wishful thinking and political timidity must no longer bar a program so absolutely essential to our defense."

Then he said:

"Establishment of an adequate reserve, an objective for which the American Legion and other patriotic organizations have vainly fought for a generation, will be a No. 1 item submitted to the Congress next year."

IN HIS SPEECH to fellow Legionnaires, many of whom served under him as supreme commander in Europe during World War II, the chief executive promised that "this reserve will not unfairly burden men who have already served. This administration will see to that."

The President said that for a century and a half the United States has prided itself "on its refusal to maintain large standing military forces."

"We have relied, instead, upon the civilian soldier. But we have done so without being fair either to the private citizen or to the security of the nation."

He went into no detail about the nature of the military reserve he wants to build. He made no mention of the plan for a powerful reserve outlined a few weeks ago by John Hannah, then assistant secretary of defense in charge of manpower and now returned to the presidency of Michigan State College.

That plan called for every able-bodied young man to put in a military service stint and then join

Ike Hoping Atom To Find Peaceful Use

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed the new atomic energy legislation and declared it will speed the time when the atom "will be wholly devoted" to peaceful purposes.

The bill, which ignited one of the hottest congressional fights of the year, overhauls the 1946 Atomic Energy Act. One of the changes permits the government, under certain security safeguards, to give nuclear information to allies.

The new legislation also, for the first time, opens the door for development of a private atomic power industry within the U. S.

Eisenhower, in a statement, took note of the warm debate in Congress over these provisions.

He said he feels "some misunderstandings" were revealed during the debate, and added:

"I want our people to know that these provisions are designed eventually to relieve the taxpayer of the enormous cost of the commercial aspects of the enterprise, while fully protecting the public interest in atomic energy."

"In fact, these provisions carry into effect the 1946 policy declaration of the original Atomic Energy Act, that free competition in private enterprise should be strengthened."

Eisenhower expressed confidence that the new measure will be a boon to public and private development of atomic energy.

Under the new law, they may vary from 82.5 and 90 per cent in 1955 and from 75 to 90 after that. Parity is a price declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they must pay.

Most of the Democratic leaders attending the conference said they felt 90 per cent supports were necessary. Among those expressing that view in open meeting were U. S. Senators Humphrey of Minnesota and Gillette of Iowa, former U. S. Sen. George McGill of Kansas, and former Secretaries of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard and Charles F. Brannan.

Commissioners OK 'Scoreboard' Plan

Pickaway County Commissioners have put their stamp of approval on a proposed traffic "scoreboard."

The plan will next go to the Circleville Chamber of Commerce at their regular meeting Sept. 7.

According to tentative plans, the "scoreboard" will be modeled after one in Columbus. This will mean that it will be approximately 10 feet high, painted white.

At the present time, the plans call for the "scoreboard" to be placed in front of the county courthouse. This will list the number of fatal accidents in the area in one year as compared with the previous year.

THE SAME will be done with the number of persons injured in accident throughout the county which are reported to authorities.

The plan has already been okayed by Sheriff Charles Radcliff, Circleville Police Chief Elmer Meriman and State Patrolman Bob Greene.

Unofficially, the rate of accidents and fatalities in the area has risen sharply in the past couple of months. On Aug. 14, two persons were killed and six others injured in a two-car crash at the intersection of Routes 22 and 277 near New Holland.

Two days later, a truck driver, fixing his disabled vehicle south of the Franklin-Pickaway County line on Route 23, was struck by a second truck. He died a week later.

The county commissioners agreed that the project would be of great civic and community interest. They said it was now up to the local chamber of commerce.

TO DATE, deaths in the county stand at 12. Injuries to persons are nearing the 200 mark.

More definite plans will be available after the chamber of commerce meeting.

2 More GIs At Air Base Tied To Sect

COLUMBUS (P)—Lockbourne Air Force Base authorities said today two more men suspected of membership in the "Pacheco," secret hoodlum society, have been found on the base.

Earlier, three men held on charges of being AWOL were listed as suspected members. Since then one of the three has been returned to his home base at Chanute Field, Ill.

Lt. Talbor A. Love, base public information officer, said one of the original suspects, talkative since the tattoo marking of the society had been found on him, admitted being a leader of a "society area."

The Air Force made no disclosure of what area was involved.

"We are not disclosing names or the area, because the men might be killed later by other members," Lt. Love said.

Ike Is 'Pleased' As Shivers Wins

DALLAS (P)—President Eisenhower is "highly pleased" at the reelection of Texas Gov. Allan Shivers, a conservative Democrat who supported Republican Eisenhower in 1952.

Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell says he does not consider Shivers' victory an indication of any national trend or of "anything about Eisenhower."

Shivers rode a record Texas primary vote Saturday to victory over Austin Atty. Ralph Yarborough, who was backed by liberal Texas Democrats.

2 Thugs Lose Bout With Priest

NEW YORK (P)—During his first week in this country, the Rev. Gerald Buttery proved he knows how to handle Brooklyn thugs when they try to get tough.

Two men offered Father Buttery a ride and when he got into their car they tried to hold him up.

The priest, who arrived here from Ireland five days before, jumped out of the car, dragging one of the thugs with him. When the second man joined the sidewalk scuffle, the priest punched him, too, and both men then climbed into the car and fled.

Brown Countian's Body Discovered

GEORGETOWN (P)—The body of William Beasley, 30, of near Aberdeen, was found in a ravine near his farm home yesterday and the Brown County coroner ruled the death a suicide.

Beasley had been sought since Friday when his wife, Mary Katherine, 29, was killed and his 3-year-old daughter, Judy, wounded. Officers said Beasley killed himself with the same shotgun used in the slaying of his wife.

107,000 Turn Out Sunday For Ohio's Big State Fair

COLUMBUS (P)—An estimated 107,000 persons thronged the Ohio State fairgrounds here yesterday as veterans joined with the military to stage a colorful salute to the armed forces.

Although short of the record 124,000 attendance a year ago Sunday, yesterday's crowd was the largest of the 1954 fair, which opened Friday.

One highlight was the "capture" of a pill box by 20 Marines using a bazooka and a flamethrower.

A parade and drum and bugle corps demonstrations were other features.

One casualty of the fair was 4-year-old Elizabeth Rupp of Columbus, who died yesterday of injuries received when she fell from a ramp during a children's style show.

French Group Seeks New EDC Conference

Debate, Vote On Pact Delayed As Leaders Jockey For Position

BULLETIN

PARIS (P)—The French National Assembly voted tonight on a procedural motion which would have the effect of killing the present European Army plan without further debate. Unofficial reports said the motion passed, 317-274.

PARIS (P)—The French National Assembly today interrupted debate on the European Army Treaty today after one of its supporters insisted on an immediate call for new negotiations to change the treaty.

This move by the group in favor of the European Defense Community Pact immediately brought a counter move by the opponents to shut off the debate and bury EDC without further talk.

The morning session of the Assembly was devoted exclusively to the questions of procedure. None of the approximately 60 orators wanting to talk about the treaty itself had a chance to speak.

Under parliamentary rules, a decision on these motions must take precedence over the rest of the debate. A truce was reached yesterday and both supporters and adherents of EDC agreed to withdraw their opposing motions to permit the general talks to proceed.

THIS MORNING, the pro-EDC group had a change of heart and the resolution calling for new talks with the other five EDC nations was reinstated. So was the anti-EDC motion.

Parliamentary experts were trying to figure out a solution. Both factions were working to line up votes for their side.

The motion submitted by Alfred Chupin of the small Union of Democratic and Socialist Resistance, said that there is reason "to invite the government to follow up its efforts, prior to the vote on the treaty, for an agreement among the signing nations on the basis of the project of protocol submitted by France at Brussels and to re-

New Pastor Jingling Keys In Defiance Church Dispute

Belated "going-away" gifts to the Rev. and Mrs. Robert B. Weaver were presented here Sunday night at a gathering at the Methodist church after a court injunction gave him the keys to his newly assigned church in Defiance.

Vaden Couch, president of the official board, made the presentation. The Rev. Mr. Weaver was given a briefcase while Mrs. Weaver received a sterling silver service.

"This briefcase is very appropo," the pastor remarked to the gathering, "with all the legal work I have now."

The Rev. Mr. Weaver was referring to his disputed newly assigned post at Defiance. There have been several lawsuits entered by both the pastor and the small group trying to prevent him from assuming his full duties there.

"I BELIEVE it is all just a matter of time now," he said. "It is now a community problem, not just one concerning the Methodists. We are very optimistic."

He added that Sunday services there have been attended by capacity audiences since he arrived. He said he has received a great deal of encouragement both in person and by mail.

"We believe we will have a better, stronger church out of this struggle," The Rev. Mr. Weaver pointed out. "There is just a very small group still defiant in Defiance."

The Rev. Mr. Weaver today jingled a set of keys to all property of St. Paul's Methodist Church in Defiance for the first time. There is one notable exception—the parsonage.

Rev. Mr. Weaver conducted a marriage ceremony in the church Saturday after having received a temporary injunction in court against Joseph Richards, former St. Paul's pastor who turned in his minister's credentials in a dispute with officials of the Ohio Methodist Conference.

IN ADDITION to gaining control of the church building, the court also granted Rev. Mr. Weaver the right to hold all normal religious services and activities in the church "without interference."

Following the marriage rites, which had been threatened when Richards told the Weaver-appointed organist that if she attempted to man the musical instrument he would turn off the electric current, Rev. Mr. Weaver took his first look at the church as a whole.

Prior to Saturday, the new pastor had entered the sanctuary of the church only in time for Sunday morning services and had seen only in the main vestibule.

And after the tour, Rev. Mr. Weaver, aided by 20-odd members of St. Paul's, manned brooms, sweepers and mop buckets to give the church its first cleaning since the dispute flared last June.

The disagreement arose when Rev. Mr. Weaver was assigned from Circleville to Defiance. Richards protested, tossed in his cleric's credentials and stood pat. He

Sabina Man Wins Horseshoe Crown

COLUMBUS (P)—Harold Reno of Sabina, Clinton County, won the Ohio horseshoe pitching championship at the Ohio State Fair yesterday.

The event leads up to the Eastern National Open horseshoe tournament to be held at the fair this week. Reno won the title after playing off a tie with Harry Sibert of Dayton. Reno, Sibert and Paul Focht, Dayton, 1953 state champion, all will enter the national event.

MIDDLETOWN (P)—Authorities continued their search today for a man who wounded Mrs. Lee Caudill, 29, and her son, Steven, 4, as they sat on a neighbor's porch Saturday. The neighbor, Mrs. Jane Wright, 65, also was wounded. None was seriously hurt.

Turncoat GI's Attorney Says Army Reneged

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (P)—An attorney for Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor said he will tell a general court-martial here today that the Army "promised" Batchelor immunity and then went back on its promise.

Batchelor's trial opens today in a sheet-metal building at Ft. Sam Houston.

Defense Atty. Joel Westbrook of San Antonio said: "He is eager to clear himself with the American people."

Batchelor, 22, of Kermit, Tex., is charged with collaborating with the enemy and informing on his buddies during his 31 months as a prisoner of war in North Korea.

He was one of 23 American prisoners who decided to stay with the Communists after the Korean armistice. But he changed his mind and came back to the Allied side last Jan. 1.

The only other American of the 23 who came back was Cpl. Edward S. Dickinson of Big Stone Gap, Va. He was convicted last May 4 on charges similar to those brought against Batchelor. Of the other 21, one has been reported dead by the Chinese Reds.

Westbrook said Batchelor and the other Americans were promised immunity by the Army while they were in Indian custody at Panmunjom, Korea, last winter.

Westbrook said he will move for quashing the case on a complaint that the Army "went back on its promise."

But the Army has stated that it promised the reluctant Americans only that they would not be punished for remaining behind after others had been repatriated.

Planes and bloodhounds had aided 203 men in the search. James was reported unhurt.

Legion Given Promise Plan Will Not Be Burden Upon Ex-GIs

WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower told the American Legion today that creation of a mighty military reserve as a bulwark against communism will be No. 1 item on his 1955 legislative program.

"We have failed miserably to maintain that strong, ready military reserve in which we have believed for 150 years," the President declared in a speech at the legion's annual convention here.

"Now, at long last, we must build such a reserve. And we must maintain it. Wishful thinking and political timidity must no longer bar a program so absolutely essential to our defense."

Then he said: "Establishment of an adequate reserve, an objective for which the American Legion and other patriotic organizations have vainly fought for a generation, will be a No. 1 item submitted to the Congress next year."

IN HIS SPEECH to fellow Legionnaires, many of whom served under him as supreme commander in Europe during World War II, the chief executive promised that "this reserve will not unfairly burden men who have already served. This administration will see to that."

The President said that for a century and a half the United States has prided itself "on its refusal to maintain large standing military forces."

"We have relied, instead, upon the civilian soldier. But we have done so without being fair either to the private citizen or to the security of the nation."

He went into no detail about the nature of the military reserve he wants to build. He made no mention of the plan for a powerful reserve outlined a few weeks ago by John Hannah, then assistant secretary of defense in charge of manpower and now returned to the presidency of Michigan State College.

That plan called for every able-bodied young man to put in a military service stint and then join

Ike Hoping Atom To Find Peaceful Use

WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower today signed the new atomic energy legislation and declared it will speed the time when the atom "will be wholly devoted" to peaceful purposes.

The bill, which ignited one of the hottest congressional fights of the year, overhauls the 1946 Atomic Energy Act. One of the changes permits the government, under certain security safeguards, to give nuclear information to allies.

The new legislation also, for the first time, opens the door for development of a private atomic power industry within the U. S.

Eisenhower, in a statement, took note of the warm debate in Congress over these provisions.

He said he feels "some misunderstandings" were revealed during the debate, and added:

"I want our people to know that these provisions are designed eventually to relieve the taxpayer of the enormous cost of the commercial aspects of the enterprise, while fully protecting the public interest in atomic energy."

"In fact, these provisions carry into effect the 1948 policy declaration of the original Atomic Energy Act, that free competition in private enterprise should be strengthened."

Eisenhower expressed confidence that the new measure will be a boon to public and private development of atomic energy.

23 Persons Killed In Ohio Accidents

COLUMBUS (P)—Twenty-three persons lost their lives—15 of them in traffic—as a result of accidents in Ohio over the weekend.

A majority of the dead were under 30, with eight children included in the toll. Two men over 70 were struck and killed by cars.

Two persons drowned. Five other deaths were ascribed to miscellaneous causes.

the reserve. The White House said at the time the program Hannah set forth as a plan to thwart any Soviet aggression was under consideration by the National Security Council but that no final decision had been reached on whether to submit it to Congress in that form.

Eisenhower interrupted his Colorado vacation for 24 hours to fly back to Washington to address the legion. In his address he also gave France another prod in the hope of winning ratification of the European army project by that nation.

WITHOUT mentioning that country by name, he said progress on the six-nation project "has not fulfilled our hopes." He also declared that in the struggle for free world security and peace, "neither the ups nor downs justify any slackening of our efforts."

Dealing with the European situation and collective security generally, he said:

"The safety of any single nation in the free world depends directly on the substantial unity of all the nations in the free world. No nation outside the Iron Curtain can afford to be indifferent to the fate of any other nation devoted to freedom."

"If each, ignoring all others, pursues only its own course toward its own ends, the Communists have unlimited opportunity to turn the full force of their power upon any selected victim."

"Each, beginning with the weakest and most exposed might then succumb in turn, until the strongest of all—ourselves—would be left alone to face a hostile world."

"The final result would be fearful to contemplate. We will never permit it to happen."

He said that because of the strength and the wealth of the United States, it has imposed upon it a heavy share of the whole burden of free world security.

Hiking Mother, Child Separated

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Police arranged yesterday to reunite a hitchhiking 8-year-old girl with her Ohio mother, Mrs. Florence L. Campbell, 42, of Bowling Green, Ohio. The mother said she and the girl, Elsie Mae, accepted separate rides in trucks near Hope, Ark., because they had too much baggage to ride together.

She said they planned to go to Bowling Green to the home of her father, James Farley. The girl was put out of the truck before the driver was arrested for drunk driving in Arkansas, police said. The drivers had planned to meet here.

The Assembly's foreign affairs committee, by a vote of 24 to 20, decided to recommend when the assembly convenes this afternoon that it adopt the resolution by EDC for to put off debate indefinitely. This, in effect, would kill the treaty.

Opening the treaty debate yesterday, Premier Mendes-France maintained his on-the-fence attitude regarding the fact but he choked off several attempts to stall discussion and cleared the way for the pro-EDC faction to have its say.

Former Premier Rene Mayer was the first to accept the challenge with an urgent plea for adoption of the treaty. With 69 more speakers to be heard from, the debate is expected to last at least until Wednesday.

There appeared some chance that before voting to ratify or reject the treaty, the Assembly would ask Mendes-France to seek new concessions from the other five prospective members of the alliance — Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. GOP Boss Lashes Democrats For Anti-Red Law Tactics

CINCINNATI (AP)—National Chairman Leonard W. Hall keynoted a Republican party campaign rally here today by accusing congressional Democrats of using "vast cunning" in attempts "to make our anti-Communist legislation unworkable."

Hall called on party committeemen and state chairmen to "reaffirm our standing pledge of campaign ethics." But he told a workshop conference here that the Republicans are "not going to hang up the gloves" in what President Eisenhower said was the "crucial struggle" for control of Congress.

As a possible example of what he had in mind, Hall said he was happy to report that the Republicans have "no ragtag, bobtail hangers-on of the leftwing ADA (Americans for Democratic Action) persuasion to confuse us with calls for recognition of Red China and for scuttling the administration's hard-hitting antisubversive program."

The GOP chairman did not spell out his indictment fully, but his thrust about making anti-Communist legislation "unworkable" obviously was aimed at Senate Democrats who forced through a measure to strip the Communist party of its legal rights.

THE DEMOCRATS did not succeed in getting final approval of their original proposal to make membership in the party a crime. The measure, as amended, stripped the Communist party of legal status. But Democrats hailed its had the board of trustees, of which he is a member, appoint him as business manager of the church under a five-year contract. The pact also gave Richards control of the parsonage.

Former Local Minister Given Church Keys

AS PASTOR of the church, Richards received a salary of $7,500 plus annual expenses of about $2,500. Richards claimed he had been offered another church (Richards claimed it was Circleville) at a salary of $4,000 less than he received in Defiance. The Circleville salary to Rev. Mr. Weaver was $5,000.

Last Saturday, Richards answered an injunction writ sought by Rev. Mr. Weaver and officials of the Ohio Methodist Conference. In it, Richards claimed the conference had no legal right to depose him. In the original injunction, the Weaver plaintiffs contended that under the Methodist Discipline (church rules and regulations), a local board of trustees "shall not interfere with the pastor in the use of church property." The plaintiffs further contended that the "property" is in the legal name of the conference and that Rev. Mr. Weaver "is the appointed pastor."

Judge Eugene McNeill of Van Wert handed down the temporary injunction Friday. It holds until Sept. 20, when McNeill is to rule on the permanent injunction.

McNeill was named to hear the case in place of Defiance County Judge H. B. Mullholand who, as lay leader of St. Paul's, was a member of the official board whose leaders have been backing Richards.

This week, Rev. Weaver is to move his family into a rented three-bedroom house here where they will sit out the raging legal battle over control over both the church and parsonage properties.

Truck Overtakes; Two Men Injured

A milk truck apparently went out of control and rolled over several times before coming to a stop Sunday afternoon.

Two men received cuts and bruises as a result of the one-vehicle accident on Route 56 nearly a mile east of Pheasant.

Charles E. Paul, 17, of Stoutsville Route 1, driver of the truck, received cuts and scrapes of his back. Debert Hardy, also of Stoutsville Route 1, suffered a laceration of his left wrist and injured right shoulder. He was a passenger.

State Patrolman Gene Miller said that Paul traveled 222 feet on the south bound, crossed over into a ditch and skidded 101 feet before turning over.

The accident occurred at 2:45 p. m.

Churchmen Call For East, West To 'Live Together'

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—The momentous second General Assembly of the World Council of Churches neared its end today after ringing declarations calling for "the living together" of the East and West and placing the church adamantly against racial segregation and use of nuclear weapons.

Legion Corps Gains 4th Spot At State Fair

Circleville's American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps took fourth prize of $300 at the Ohio State Fair competition Sunday.

The local unit was close behind Massillon, Bellefontaine (both of whom were only .3 points apart) and Forestville.

Another surprising fact was that the local corps beat out Portland, Ind., the 1954 Indiana State champions.

Sunday's competition completes the official schedule for the local unit. However, they will still appear at the band festival here on Sept. 10, at the Pickaway County Fair Sept. 15-18 and the Pumpkin Show in October.

THE CORPS will then go into practice for 1955 competition. There will be no period of non-activity, according to spokesman James P. Shea.

Completing the rest of the 13 corps at the Fair in Columbus Sunday were: Marion, North College Hill, Martins Ferry, Detroit, Mich., Toledo Dayton Frankfort Ky. and Springfield.

Sen. McCarthy In Capital To Defend Himself

McCarthy and top Army officials flung at each other under oath.

The majority and minority findings and separate opinions of individual Republican and Democratic senators will constitute the "verdict."

The over-all document is expected to be so bulky it may take until Wednesday morning to print it for distribution.

McCarthy is regular chairman of the Investigations subcommittee. Sen. Mundt (R-SD) took over just for the McCarthy-Army probe.

According to the New York Times, the Mundt committee majority will "declare a mild pox" both McCarthy and Army officials. This represents a concession by Senator Dirksen, who wanted to acquit McCarthy, and a concession by Senator Potter, who had expressed his belief that both sides had been guilty of perjury. Though going along with his fellow-Republicans, Potter will issue a supplementary report. The three Democrats are expected to make their report a much tougher one.

It is the duty of the church, the report said, to protest against "any law or arrangement that is unjust to any human being or fellowship impossible."

Concerning East-West relations, the report to the assembly said that it purposely avoided the term "coexistence" because it first was used by Communist leaders.

"We stand against submission, engulment by or appeasement of totalitarian tyranny and aggression," the report stated. "We also stand against the exploitation of any people and for basic civil liberties. Christians must continue to condemn totalitarianism as false in doctrine and dangerous in practice. They will be no less firm in continuing to oppose atheistic materialism."

the reserve. The White House said at the time the program Hannah set forth as a plan to thwart any Soviet aggression was under consideration by the National Security Council but that no final decision had been reached on whether to submit it to Congress in that form.

Eisenhower interrupted his Colorado vacation for 24 hours to fly back to Washington to address the legion. In his address he also gave France another prod in the hope of winning ratification of the European army project by that nation.

Without mentioning that country by name, he said progress on the six-nation project "has not fulfilled our hopes." He also declared that in the struggle for free world security and peace, "neither the ups nor downs justify any slackening of our efforts."

Dealing with the European situation and collective security generally, he said:

"The safety of any single nation in the free world depends directly on the substantial unity of all the nations in the free world. No nation outside the Iron Curtain can afford to be indifferent to the fate of any other nation devoted to freedom."

"If each, ignoring all others, pursues only its own course toward its own ends, the Communists have unlimited opportunity to turn the full force of their power upon any selected victim."

"Each, beginning with the weakest and most exposed might then succumb in turn, until the strongest of all—ourselves—would be left alone to face a hostile world."

"The final result would be fearful to contemplate. We will never permit it to happen."

He said that because of the strength and the wealth of the United States, it has imposed upon it a heavy share of the whole burden of free world security.

Hiking Mother, Child Separated

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Police arranged yesterday to reunite a hitchhiking 8-year-old girl with her Ohio mother, Mrs. Florence L. Campbell, 42, of Bowling Green, Ohio. The mother said she and the girl, Elsie Mae, accepted separate rides in trucks near Hope, Ark., because they had too much baggage to ride together.

She said they planned to go to Bowling Green to the home of her father, James Farley. The girl was put out of the truck before the driver was arrested for drunk driving in Arkansas, police said. The drivers had planned to meet here.

GOP Boss Lashes Democrats For Anti-Red Law Tactics

CINCINNATI (AP)—National Chairman Leonard W. Hall keynoted a Republican party campaign pep rally here today by accusing congressional Democrats of using "vast cunning" in attempts "to make our anti-Communist legislation unworkable."

Hall called on party committeemen and state chairmen to "reaffirm our standing pledge of campaign ethics." But he told a workshop conference here that the Republicans are "not going to hang up the gloves" in what President Eisenhower said was the "crucial struggle" for control of Congress.

As a possible example of what he had in mind, Hall said he was happy to report that the Republicans have "no ragtag, bobtail hangers-on of the leftwing ADA (Americans for Democratic Action) persuasion to confuse us with calls for recognition of Red China and for scuttling the administration's hard-hitting antisubversive program."

The GOP chairman did not spell out his indictment fully, but his thrust about making anti-Communist legislation "unworkable" obviously was aimed at Senate Democrats who forced through a measure to strip the Communist party of its legal rights.

THE DEMOCRATS did not succeed in getting final approval of their original proposal to make membership in the party a crime. The measure, as amended, stripped the Communist party of legal status. But Democrats hailed its new with Germany the negotiations of the Saar." It proposed resuming the debate Sept. 21.

The Assembly's foreign affairs committee, by a vote of 24 to 20, decided to recommend when the assembly convenes this afternoon that it adopt the resolution by EDC foes to put off debate indefinitely. This, in effect, would kill the treaty.

Opening the treaty debate yesterday, Premier Mendes-France maintained his on-the-fence attitude regarding the fact but he choked off several attempts to stall discussion and cleared the way for the pro-EDC faction to have its say.

Former Premier Rene Mayer was the first to accept the challenge with an urgent plea for adoption of the treaty. With 69 more speakers to be heard from, the debate is expected to last at least until Wednesday.

There appeared some chance that before voting to ratify or reject the treaty, the Assembly would ask Mendes-France to seek new concessions from the other five prospective members of the alliance — Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. Mendes-France failed to get the changes he wanted in his talks with the other five foreign ministers at Brussels earlier.

Former Local Minister Given Church Keys

had the board of trustees, of which he is a member, appoint him as business manager of the church under a five-year contract. The pact also gave Richards control of the parsonage.

AS PASTOR of the church, Richards received a salary of $7,500 plus annual expenses of about $2,500. Richards claimed he had been offered another church (Richards claimed it was Circleville) at a salary of $4,000 less than he received in Defiance. The Circleville salary to Rev. Mr. Weaver was $5,000.

Last Saturday, Richards answered an injunction writ sought by Rev. Mr. Weaver and officials of the Ohio Methodist Conference. In it, Richards claimed the conference had no legal right to depose him. In the original injunction, the Weaver plaintiffs contended that under the Methodist Discipline (church rules and regulations), a local board of trustees "shall not interfere with the pastor in the use of church property." The plaintiffs further contend that the "property" is in the legal name of the conference and that Rev. Mr. Weaver "is the appointed pastor."

Judge Eugene McNeill of Van Wert handed down the temporary injunction Friday. It holds until Sept. 20, when McNeill is to rule on the permanent injunction.

McNeill was named to hear the case in place of Defiance County Judge H. B. Mullholand who, as lay leader of St. Paul's, was a member of the official board whose leaders have been backing Richards.

This week, Rev. Weaver is to move his family into a rented three-bedroom house here where they will sit out the raging legal battle over control over both the church and parsonage properties.

Churchmen Call For East, West To 'Live Together'

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—The momentous second General Assembly of the World Council of Churches neared its end today after ringing declarations calling for "the living together" of the East and West and placing the church adamantly against racial segregation and use of nuclear weapons.

This assembly of church leaders representing 163 denominations from 48 countries ends tomorrow after almost continuous sessions since Aug. 15. The principal major task remaining was that of the "oneness in Christ," or church unity.

Over the weekend, the assembly accepted reports which:

Appealed to Communist and non-Communist nations to recognize they must "live together" in order to head off their march toward a cataclysmic war. "However deep the conflict may be," the council said, "it is not necessarily an insuperable bar to living together. Mankind is sick of it and wants to be at peace."

Urged upon nations of the world the abandonment of "force as an instrument of policy beyond existing frontiers."

TERMED COMMUNISM a snare of "false promises" but warned the West against "anti-Communist hysteria."

Called on all nations to "pledge that they will refrain from the threat or use" of nuclear weapons against the territorial integrity or independence of any state.

Urged new efforts for international control, inspection and prohibition of atomic, hydrogen and other mass-destruction weapons to end "an arms race of unprecedented dimensions."

Termed racial segregation "an unutterable offense against God to be endured no longer."

It is the duty of the church, the report said, to protest against "any law or arrangement that is unjust to any human being or fellowship impossible."

Concerning East-West relations, the report to the assembly said that it purposely avoided the term "coexistence" because it first was used by Communist leaders.

Sen. McCarthy In Capital To Defend Himself

McCarthy and top Army officials flung at each other under oath.

The majority and minority findings and separate opinions of individual Republican and Democratic senators will constitute the "verdict."

The over-all document is expected to be so bulky it may take until Wednesday morning to print it for distribution.

McCarthy is regular chairman of the Investigations subcommittee. Sen. Mundt (R-SD) took over just for the McCarthy-Army probe.

According to the New York Times, the Mundt committee majority will "declare a mild no" to both McCarthy and Army officials.

This represents a concession by Senator Dirksen, who wanted to acquit McCarthy, and a concession by Senator Potter, who had expressed his belief that both sides had been guilty of perjury. Though going along with his fellow-Republicans, Potter will issue a supplementary report. The three Democrats are expected to make their report a much tougher one.

Roundtown Retrospect

By Mac Noggle

Up to recent years, Circleville must have been on a "sucker" list, made available to promoters of "fly-by-night" schemes and businesses.

Not unlike many other towns, we had some sorry experiences in the early days in trying to industrialize our town. However, the greater part of the losses came out of the pockets of civic-minded citizens who really were unselfishly interested in our growth. But there was one notable instance, when public money was used to promote industrial projects.

About 1890 a movement to make Circleville an industrial center came to a climax with the passage of an enabling act by the General Assembly of Ohio whereby a city of our size could issue bonds, not to exceed $50,000 to be used for the purpose of enticing manufacturers to locate their plants in the city.

The bonds were to bear interest not to exceed 6 per cent, to run for not more than 20 years and they could not be sold for less than their par value.

BUT BEFORE they could be issued, the question must be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of the city and must be approved by two thirds of those voting. For Circleville's only experiment, the election was held on April 7, 1891 and the proposition was approved—1,218 for, 190 against.

The board of control, set up by Probate Judge Jacob Winstead to dispose of the funds, was swamped by propositions from companies who wished to get in on the benefits of our $50,000 bond issue. After investigation by the board of control and the Circleville board of trade, then in existence, three propositions were formally accepted and contracts signed.

The first of these, the Isaac Jaff Lounge Company, of Marysville, was paid $5,000 so that their building could be started. Later, when their machinery was installed, they were paid another $12,000, the balance of their contract.

This company soon failed. The building stood for a number of years, unoccupied, but was finally sold to John C. Goeller who used it for his broom factory until it was completely destroyed by fire about 1927. Shortly afterwards, Mr. Goeller rebuilt and this building is now the site of the Lincoln Plastics plant.

Another $15,000 of the bond money was paid to the Circleville Glass Company, set up by some Toledo promoters, who erected the plant to make sheet glass. It was located on the north side of Ohio street, extending from Pickaway St. east to Washington St.

THEY PROMISED a capacity of 10 pots, but never were there more than three put in operation. Our glass factory ran for only a short time.

The final project, recommended for subsidy by the board of control and the board of trade, was the Benner Furniture Company, of Union City, Ind. The remainder of the bond issue—$18,000—was handed to them to build their building in the south part of the town.

It was started, but never completed. Apparently these people were in trouble in Union City when they were negotiating for the move to Circleville because law suits for claims followed them here and the business collapsed.

Later the unfinished building was acquired and rebuilt into the present Circleville plant of The Winor Canning Company.

We wonder—could Circleville's folly of 1890 be an outstanding example of the old chestnut—"Your dollar would buy more in the olden days than now?"

EUROPE, LIKE U. S., HAS FREE COMPULSORY PUBLIC EDUCATION BUT SYSTEMS DIFFER

By RAYMOND WILCOVE

Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Free compulsory public education is common to both the United States and Europe.

A comparison of the educational systems of the United States and Europe reveals that Americans have a greater opportunity to obtain a good secondary education, but not necessarily a better elementary or college education.

A survey of six European nations—Great Britain, Sweden, France, Russia, Italy and West Germany—would indicate a greater expansion of elementary and secondary schools in the United States than abroad.

In some European countries, an elementary education is all most children obtain. In Italy, for example, about five-sixths of the age group 6 to 14 obtain no more than five years' schooling. In Southern Italy, the average is only three.

U. S. school children—it's a must for their European cousins, too.

EIGHT YEARS' schooling is usually the minimum in the United States and 12 years is the normal length of study among most American youth, especially in metropolitan centers.

However, Italian children are not limited to three or five years of schooling if their economic situation permits. They may take a three-year course in secondary education, which may in turn be followed by two more years in a scuola media.

From there, the student may enter a liceo (senior secondary school) to prepare for university or he may attend a technical school or normal school. Twenty-two of Italy's 41 institutions of higher learning are maintained by the national government.

In Sweden, where there has been compulsory education since 1842, attendance is required from age 7 until 14. Instruction in English begins, incidentally, in the fifth class.

A SWEDISH student attends seven one-year classes in elementary school, smaskola and ezentiga folkskola. He then goes to realskola and gymnasium, secondary schools. The gymnasium in Europe corresponds to the American high school.

In Western Germany, education has been the responsibility of the state since the Eighteenth Century. A student goes for eight or nine years to elementary school, the first four years being called grundschule.

The gifted children then enter intermediate and secondary grade schools. The rest, nearly 90 per cent, go through a further stage of elementary school for four or, more frequently, five years, known as Volksschuloberstufe.

There are also intermediate schools, mittelschulen, lasting six years, for children who want to become skilled craftsmen and employees in trade, industry, commerce and administration.

IN GREAT BRITAIN, primary education is furnished for pupils aged 5 to about 12. Infant schools handle those aged 5 to 7 and junior schools 7 to 12. Nursery schools take care of those aged 2 to 5.

Secondary education is provided for pupils from 12 to about 19 (for the majority up to 15 only) in grammar, modern and technical schools. Some additional education, either full or part-time, is given in "county colleges" (ages 15 to 18), technical schools, and colleges and youth service organizations.

In France, all education is strictly controlled by the central government. The compulsory school age is 6 to 14. Two separate systems are maintained—elementary and secondary—but differing from other countries in that both provide a series of continuing studies.

For example, a pupil may receive all his education in the elementary system until he reaches the age of 22 or 23. The secondary system usually prepares a student for entrance into special schools, such as medicine and law.

UNLIKE the United States, separate schools are maintained for French boys and girls in communes (districts) with more than 500 population.

Russia has made vast strides in its educational system since World War I. School attendance is free and compulsory for all children aged 7 through 10. This is the elementary school system.

This is followed by junior secondary schools (7 through 13) and by senior secondary schools (13 through 16). Pupils completing the seven-year junior secondary school may go on to two-year or three-year vocational schools, technicals, which provide training for a great variety of skilled work, including engineering and medicine.

A transfer may also be made to the parallel year of the 10-year senior secondary school, whose graduates are eligible for the universities and institutes of university level. All Soviet universities are maintained by the state.

College Enrolls Set Of Triplets

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania State University has enrolled its first set of triplet girls in its 100-year history.

They are Julie, Jean and Joyce McCloskey.

The task of telling the three 17-year-old girls apart has been somewhat simplified: they don't dress alike and they are taking different courses. Julie will study home economics; Joyce, art education; and Jean, elementary education.

"Our family wants us to develop individual personalities," Julie explained.

Now residents of State College, the girls are natives of Washington, D.C., and lived in Richmond, Va., and Morgantown, W.Va., before coming here last September.

WHAT KILLED WALRUSES?

AN INTRIGUING report from Alaska kept top secret three years is being weighed in Washington. It involves the casting up in October, 1951, on St. Lawrence Island of more than 200 dead walruses. That may be more dead walruses than had been sighted at one time in all previous history. Not only were the walruses very dead, but they were ripped apart. Some were headless, others flipperless. It is the history of walruses that they normally die peacefully in bed, with all their parts intact. The best calculation of oceanographers is that the deceased had drifted from Cape Chaplin on the Siberian Coast. There is speculation that the key to the mystery may be the almost forgotten announcement by the White House that Russia blew two A-bombs in October of that year. There was no hint at the time of the possibility that the blast occurred within walrus-drifting distance of U. S. soil. The date was too early for the Kremlin to wash out these walruses because they bore a striking resemblance to Old Joe. Various other avenues of speculation are equally fruitless. So far as can be determined, the Kremlin has never accused walruses of capitalism or containment.

HONOR FIRST AMERICANS

AT LONG LAST the American Indian is to have his own Hall of Fame. Dedication services were held at Anadarko, Okla., the other day as part of the 23rd annual American Indian Exposition. Authorized by the state legislature of Oklahoma, the structure will be located on a 10-acre tract adjoining the Southern Plains Crafts and Exhibition Center. It is to be a memorial to famous American Indians, located in the "Indian Capital of the World." A bust of Black Beaver, famous Delaware Indian scout, will be the first to be unveiled at the center. Other nominations are being considered, including Allen Wright, late principal chief of the Choctaw nation; Chief Joseph, leader of the Nez Perces of Oregon; Sequoyah, Cherokee inventor of an alphabet for his tribe, and Charles Curtis, Kaw tribesman, who was the first man of Indian descent to be elected Vice President of the United States. The list of famous Indian citizens is long. Recognition of their achievements is being accorded belatedly. The shrine being erected at Anadarko will draw thousands of visitors in the years ahead, as America pays tribute to the leaders of its native inhabitants. After his wife had beaten him regularly for six years a Chicago man divorced her. Just doesn't want her to have any fun, apparently.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG
news behind the news
By DON F. DATISMAN
Editor's Note: While Ray Tucker is on vacation there will be guest columns by several prominent newspaper editors. Today's column is by Don F. Datisman, managing editor of the Gary Post-Tribune, Gary, Ind.
GARY, Ind.—Interest in maritime affairs is surging upward in Northwest Indiana where steel and oil have combined to mass a metropolitan population of nearly half a million.
The Calumet District (Gary, Hammond, East Chicago and Whiting) sees early prospects for a double waterway connection with tidewater—via the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Seaway to the Atlantic, and via the Illinois and Mississippi rivers to the Gulf of Mexico.
The prospect has double importance, too. It would expand the market for the Calumet's production, and it would insure ample iron ore supplies far into the future for the area's lusty steel mills, already contesting with Pittsburgh for the industry's leadership.
DEVELOPMENT — The St. Lawrence Seaway is assured. And inland waterway leaders have strong hopes for an early start on the second project, the $182 million Calumet-Sag Channel development.
The latter involves widening and deepening the Calumet River and Sag Channel route which connects the Federal Indiana Harbor in East Chicago with the Illinois and the Mississippi Rivers. Full plans call for extending it eastward for barge traffic into Gary.
Time was when the railroads were steel's number one customer and the industry looked askance at seaways. But railroad buying has dropped in importance, and steel men are seriously interested now in low-cost water transportation of their bulky raw materials.
IMPORTANCE — The Mesabi ore deposits of Northern Minnesota, which long have fed the Calumet's blast furnaces, are not exhausted, but much of the high grade ore has been mined. All the major steel producers are working on ways to extract the low grade ore from taconite, which the Mesabi holds in tremendous abundance. The process of getting quality ore through

George E. Sokolsky's These Days

Some time during the past three months, President Eisenhower ceased to be bored. The struggle for power with the Congress attracted his interest and the victory of his legislative program intrigued him. He is now a politician.
The original Eisenhower concept of the Presidency was undoubtedly a product of his long life abroad. To him, the President, once elected, ceases to be a partisan; he is non-partisan, or bi-partisan, or beyond party.
During the first session of the 83rd Congress, this concept created confusion because it was unrelated to political organization in this country. It created consternation among the older Republicans who had been waiting 20 years for their party to return to power. The Republicans, seeking normal leadership in Congress, turned to Robert A. Taft for intellectual direction and when he died, they had none.
In the second session of the 83rd Congress, President Eisenhower had to succeed with his legislative program or, it became increasingly evident, the Democrats would control the 84th Congress. Some of the Eisenhower advisers even believed that, on the whole, the President would be better off if the Democrats did win in the 1954 election, and the Democrats naturally encouraged that point of view.
Some of the President's old friends and advisers are more accustomed to Democrats, having been with Roosevelt and Truman for so long. However, better counsel prevailed and the President went as politician as his personality permits. He has been extraordinarily successful in putting over his legislative program and in pulling his party together on the eve of an election.
The result is that the revolt within the Republican Party against the Eisenhower group abated. There is still opposition to the inordinate influence of Paul Hoffman, Lucius Clay, and John J. McCloy, who are regarded by old-time Republicans as Truman holdovers, but there is greater confidence in Eisenhower personally as a political leader.
One of the factors in the strengthening of Eisenhower's position within the Republican Party was the unbelievable stupidity of the Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, who tried to establish that President Eisenhower was involved in a personal scandal to get financial advantage for his friend, Bobby Jones, the golfer. This had to do with the Dixon-Yates group who, at the President's direction, were given an A.E.C. contract in Arkansas. Jones is a director of one of the firms involved.
Mitchell produced no evidence of corruption. He did not establish a scandal. He did not prove that Jones was corrupt or that the President aided and abetted him in any corruption. What Mitchell did do, by one fell swoop, was to separate the President from any sentimental attachment to the Democrats with whom he had served under Roosevelt and Truman, and it sent him into the 1954 campaign as a partisan, electioneering for the Republican Party.
The most Republicans expected of him was that he would say a few kind words for them; now he is apparently a fighting political leader. It is anticipated—perhaps hopes for is more accurate—that the President will re-evaluate the judgment of those who advised him to be a bi-partisan President.

Early Care Prevents Complications of Burns

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
PROPER early care can often prevent the almost nightmare complications of severe burns, such as infection and excessive scarring. All burns require a lot of individual attention with no shortcuts. A physician should be in attendance as soon as possible with any severe and extensive burn. He will be able to treat whatever shock is present and relieve severe pain and suffering.
If the burn occurs around the joints of certain parts of the arms, legs or neck, it may heal with a large amount of scar tissue formation. This scar tissue is not only disfiguring, but can also cause a deformity and prevent the person from properly using the affected body part.
A burn on the face sometimes leaves disfiguring scars, or fixes the chin firmly against the chest, or makes the face so disfigured that the mouth cannot be opened without first closing the eyes.
Once the wound is allowed to heal by scar tissue and the extensive scarring has appeared, it becomes a very difficult task to correct this condition.
After the patient is in good condition following the severe burn, and there is no infection or open wound present, skin grafts should be begun. Not only does skin grafting give a better appearance to the wound, but it will also prevent much serious disability.
QUESTION AND ANSWER
Mrs. M. P.: Is the frog test for pregnancy reliable?
Answer: Yes, this test is quite reliable in most instances and usually faster than the normal rabbit test. Another factor about this test is that the frog does not have to be destroyed after the test has been completed.

Whether the area will have a fourth harbor is a moot question. For several years Calumet groups have campaigned for a commercial port in the dunes region, ten miles east of Gary. House Majority Leader Charles Halleck, whose Second Indiana District includes the proposed site, has assured that the Army Corps of Engineers will have funds next year for a formal survey of the project.
OPPOSITION — But lovers of the unique Hoosier dunes are rallying to oppose the harbor. The site is midway between two exclusive residential developments and only a short distance from the 2,200 acre Indiana Dune State Park. Conservationists would block industrial intrusion into the area.
There is a precedent for the harbor talk, however. Back in the 1830s, the town of City West was started where the state park now stands, and was expected to outstrip the then village of Chicago. Daniel Webster's visit failed to bring a federal grant for its harbor, however, and City West vanished into the dunes wilderness. It may have a new birth of life if Army Engineers find the project desirable.

The Taming of Carney Wilde
by BART SPICER

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR
I GUESS Russell learned it from the movies. He went expertly over Boltinck, patting lightly at first, stripping every pocket, tossing whatever he found to the desk. Two silk handkerchiefs, wallet, keys, pocket comb and coins from the trousers, gold cigar case, pen and pencil, handkerchief, cigar lighter, reading glasses and a fat pad of traveler's checks from the jacket. He let Boltinck turn then and sit up in the chair.
"I don't wear guns," Boltinck said. "Don't you think I got any sense?"
"No," Russell said hotly. I shook my head and he caught the signal. His mouth clamped shut as if physical pressure were needed to keep him silent.
I fished with one finger through Boltinck's things, found the wallet and skidded it toward me.
"You don't want to look at that, Wilde," Boltinck said. "In a quick note of desperation. Just listen, will you? I got a hot tip. A connection I know got close to Stewart's girl..."
My reaction was slight. Just a twitch of the hand, but Boltinck caught it.
"Ahh," he said. "That hits, eh?"
"Okay, I'll buy it," I said. "What have you got?"
"You don't finger me to the cops, that right?" he insisted.
"Deal," I said. I didn't look at Russell.
"She's meeting Stewart in New Orleans," Boltinck said. "Heading for Brazil. No extradition from Brazil."
"Where are they meeting?" I asked.
Boltinck shook his head. "That's the gimmick," he said. "It's not a place. That's as much as I know. Stewart and his girl have a plan, some kind of a trick. All I know is it isn't a place."
I picked up my .38 from under the papers and tapped the gun on the desk top. "That all?" I asked.
"I swear, Wilde," Boltinck said earnestly, "that's every bit..."
"And you came all the way here chasing Stewart, with just a hint like that?"
"It can be worked," Boltinck said positively. "I've got the connections. I would have found them. And this is something the cops don't have. That's why I took the chance. I can't work with cops on my back."
"So now you've told me I'm supposed to let you walk out of here so you can get to the place Stewart and his girl are going to meet. You knock them off and grab the loot. Is that the idea?"
"No, no. You can come with me. I'll take a plane right back to Chi. Right now. This morning. Listen, Wilde, I leveled with you. You gotta be square. I can't meet those FBI guys right now. I can get off with a mob of passengers. Then I duck. I swear. All I want is out. Now you..."
A hard knocking on the office door silenced him. Boltinck turned, wild-eyed.
"Sit still," I said. I got up and went toward the door.
The sternwheel reversed as I reached for the key. The Dixie Dandy slowed gradually and began inching forward into its mooring. I pulled the door open, hanging on as the boat lurched suddenly.
"No trouble," Grodnik said placidly. He came inside. "It's a hijack. They got a tip. Nothing much, but something to work on, maybe. The boat and a meet in New Orleans. But they don't know where, so the woman says. How does that check?"
I nodded. "That's what I got, too. Anything else?"
"No. I think they're scared of something. No weapons, no identification. And that woman is off her nut, she's so scared. How do you figure that?"
"FBI rap on their necks," I said. "I made a deal with Boltinck. Okay?"
"Nothing to me," Grodnik said. "If that's what you want."
Boltinck let out his breath in a deep sigh.
"I made a deal, Boltinck. No cops. No fingers. You get off the boat and head north. I'll hang a label on you in the morning, so you better be long gone. You understand?"
"Sure, sure, Wilde. You bet."
"Yes," I said distastefully. "We made a deal." I smiled grimly at him. "But I didn't make a deal for Russell. He has something he wants to discuss with you. Something about a deck of razor blades, I think."
I pushed Grodnik out of the door and followed him, closing it quickly, but not so quickly that I couldn't hear that first high thin squeal from Boltinck as Russell moved in on him.
I took Grodnik out on the stretch of deck in front of the purser's office. From there we could look down at the milling crowd of passengers crowding around the gangplank, eager for the starting gun, ready for Mardi Gras. The Dixie Dandy edged smoothly along the dock and the plank was run out.
"They're working it cleverly," I complained. "I don't see any..."
Grodnik said, pointing at a mobile unit with a camera mounted on top of a light truck. It was parked just at one end of a long shed that looked like a produce market. I couldn't spot anyone who looked too much like a policeman. But for a normal mid-morning crowd of gawkers, this one included too many young men about 30 or so, most of them dressed like men who had jobs in the junior executive category.
I glanced over at the camera crew again, and that reminded me. I leaned way over the railing and got a crack in my neck turning to look up at the bridge. Ellen was there, behind a big black box camera mounted on her lashed tripod.

FOLKS OF FAME—GUESS THE NAME
1—He is an artist of a few decades ago, but he is well remembered, especially in art circles. He was born in Landau, Bavaria. He spent 1940, but came with his parents to the United States and was educated in public schools. When he was very young he was employed in the office of an illustrated periodical, and soon began to furnish it sketches and drawings. He became a traveling artist for British and American newspapers; was with the patriot Garibaldi in Italy during 1860-61; after that with an American weekly as political cartoonist. He also worked as a book illustrator. He is credited with creating such political cartoon symbols as the Republican elephant, the Democratic donkey and the Tammany hall tiger. He died in Morristown, N. J., in 1902. Who was he?
2—This actor of westerns was born in Dothan, Ala., Sept. 1, 1904. He was an all-American football star from his home state when movie scouts brought him to Hollywood. He is the ideal tall-dark-and-handsome hero riding his horse. He appeared first on the screen in The Bugle Calls and The Fair Co-ed. Following is a list of some of his pictures:

School Girls Borrow Casual Styles Of Boys

How are you going to tell the girls from the boys?

The new look-alike fad that started this summer and is slated to sweep college and high school campuses this fall poses some problems for near-sighted teachers.

Not satisfied with adopting the man's shirt, schoolgirls this fall are borrowing most of the other casual fashions — Bermuda shorts, knee socks, sports-car coat and, in some instances, even his haircut.

When a girl has a crew-cut and is attired in shorts, socks, shirt, shoes and coat just like her brother's, how is a teacher to know whether to call her Mary or John?

Top campus style for both boys and girls this fall is reported to be charcoal gray flannel Bermuda shorts, pink man-tailored shirts, knee socks either in matching gray or a contrasting color, and the storm coat originally designed for men, now adopted by girls.

Universal choice in shoes to go with this outfit is the loafer or moccasin, for both boys and girls.

So far the only deviation in this look-alike fad is that girls prefer their knee socks in vivid colors or argyle patterns, while men stick to dark socks to match their sweaters, which may be bright red, green or any of a range of pastels now offered by alert manufacturers.

The dress-alike craze, of course, holds good only for casual daytime occasions. For dances and dates the girls go back to their petticoats and high heels, earrings and perfume, and look as feminine as any old-fashioned beau could desire.

Children's Fall Fashions Feature Tubbable Styles

Mothers who want easy-care, sudsable wardrobes for their children—and what mother doesn't—will find plenty of washables for both boys and girls in the stores this fall. For washability was one of the important trends stressed in a round-up of toddlers, children, boys, and sub-teens clothes presented recently by leading experts on children's fashions.

Fall and winter clothes, ranging from snowsuits to dress up clothes, are labeled sudsable. And washability is the number one factor in girls' sportswear — skirts, jackets, blouses, and sweaters—in sizes for toddlers to sub-teens.

This season there's a new twist,

Meeting of Pickaway Garden Club, which was scheduled for Friday, will be postponed until 8 p. m. Sept. 10 in the Presbyterian church.

too, because many things that don't look like they could safely go into suds actually can. There are washable jerseys and flannels made of wool or Orlon and wool, sudsable wool-and-Orlon tweeds, and washable rayons that look like wool. And there are sudsable jackets and trousers being featured for Junior.

All this is good news to every mother, for it means less money—and also less time—spent for upkeep, since quite a few of the sudsable fabrics require little or no ironing.

Children's Fall Fashions Feature Tubbable Styles

Mothers who want easy-care, sudsable wardrobes for their children—and what mother doesn't—will find plenty of washables for both boys and girls in the stores this fall. For washability was one of the important trends stressed in a round-up of toddlers, children, boys, and sub-teens clothes presented recently by leading experts on children's fashions.

Fall and winter clothes, ranging from snowsuits to dress up clothes, are labeled sudsable. And washability is the number one factor in girls' sportswear — skirts, jackets, blouses, and sweaters—in sizes for toddlers to sub-teens.

This season there's a new twist, church basement for the first session of the Fall season.

Meeting of Pickaway Garden Club, which was scheduled for Friday, will be postponed until 8 p. m. Sept. 10 in the Presbyterian church.

too, because many things that don't look like they could safely go into soapsuds actually can. There are washable jerseys and flannels made of wool or Orlon-and-wool, sudsable wool-and-Orlon tweeds, and washable rayons that look like wool. And there are sudsable jackets and trousers being featured for Junior.

All this is good news to every mother, for it means less money—and also less time—spent for upkeep, since quite a few of the sudsable fabrics require little or no ironing.

Nation's Children Finding Closer Kinship With God in Expanding Religious Camps

As with nearly every... everywhere, chow is most popular item on program in a religious camp.

By GROVER BRINKMAN
Central Press Correspondent

BEULAH CAMP, Ill.—More than 1,300 teen-agers reluctantly re-packed their luggage at this woodland camp, said goodbye to scores of newly-made friends and started homeward. It had been a glorious week.

Beulah Camp is typical of thousands of religious camps scattered over the United States. Its capacity is, roughly, 1,000 teen-agers and their sponsors. But they squeezed in 1,300 this year—and reluctantly turned others away.

The picture is much the same, all over the nation. It is rather phenomenal, despite the fact that very few headlines have resulted from it. But over the length and width of the land, religious camps of many denominations, both youth and adult, are reporting unprecedented attendance.

In some of the camps, attendance is doubled, some even tripled. In all of them, it is well above last year's figures. And those figures were high.

Why? There can be only one plausible answer. Americans of all creeds are turning to God, in all walks of life, in all age brackets.

"A few years ago we had less than one hundred teen-agers here," a Methodist camp official said. "We're a relatively small camp, serve only a small area—but this year we had 409 enrollees. We had to build a new dormitory to take care of the girls—and will build another new one for the boys next year."

Time out for study. No. 1 textbook is the Bible.

cluded places of the land, amid nature, away from the city, the noise and turmoil.

Most of these camps opened in early June—are continuing until the end of summer. Their program is a combination of: part worship, part relaxation. Present are sincere good fellowship, plenty of good, wholesome food served army style, song and inspirational get-togethers.

... ..

EACH STATE has a dozen or more of these camps—several have 50 or more. Their aim: to get a clearer perspective of what is really important and necessary in life, to get a closer union with what is real and eternal to all of us, beyond the noise and clutter and tension of modern living.

"No matter what the denomination, these religious camps are spearheading a terrific religious educational program," a Baptist official explained. "Their phenomenal growth is a big incentive for peaceful nations in the future."

Routine of these camps, regardless of denomination, is about the same. Mornings are given over to religious study, song and class projects. Afternoons are spent in recreation, relaxation, games. Evenings are spent in the "big tent," where combination programs of lecture, song and instrumental music are enjoyed nightly. Ten o'clock is lights out.

That young people as well as adults are interested in God is attested this year by the one hundred youthful delegates who attended the World Council of Churches Assembly at Evanston, Ill. Despite their youth, these young people entered discussions in the areas of international affairs, social problems, evangelism, vocation and faith. They came not only from America, but from all parts of the world.

QUOTING a lay delegate to a religious camp, "To those of us who look tremblingly at the future—come to a religious camp for a week or ten days. See our children put Christian fellowship to work. It might amaze you."

Those who are privileged to attend these camps as sponsors or counselors come home enthusiastic about the high-level, Christian teen-agers found attending them.

There are no tension-tight faces at religious camps. That must be one of the answers to their unprecedented growth.

Bikinis Bother Residents No End In Very High Class Southampton

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Every paradise has its problem, every heaven its horror.

And now trouble has come to that Eden on the Atlantic, Southampton, the Long Island utopia of the wealthy, where high society gathers in summer to rest up before facing the ordeal of another grim winter season on Park Avenue or in Palm Beach.

Not that Southampton is any Babylon of the idle rich. Few of the rich there are idle. Above the soft wash of the surf, the sweet twitter of careless birds, rises a steady whispering sound—the rustle of scissors clipping off bond coupons. If one pair of scissors wears out, the dowager or financial titan immediately picks up a spare pair and the clipping goes on. What good is a bond if it isn't kept neatly trimmed?

This pleasant papery whisper has been characteristic of Southampton for a couple of generations. But now a new sound has arisen.

Noisy newcomers have invaded the quiet village—women wearing bikini swim suits, men in shorts or bathing trunks.

The bare sight of all this visiting epidermis is more than old-time Southamptonites can bear.

"Very unattractive," complained Mrs. T. Markoe Robertson, mother of Angier Biddle Duke.

The head of the Chamber of Commerce says protests against the scant attire worn by these outlanders have come from "all walks of life" in Southampton. Presumably, this means that even the poorer millionaires are as outraged as the upper classes.

Who are these invaders who flaunt their unclad abdomens and legs so brazenly? One member of the Chamber of Commerce says they are "interlopers" from nearby low-cost housing projects, such as the one at Shinnecock Hills, who come to Southampton to shop.

Business may be business, but in this case the customer isn't always right. Not in staid Southampton, where anybody who shows money in public is regarded either as an impossible show-off or a tourist who took the wrong road. Bills are paid by cheque.

What can Southampton do to recover its dignity? Well, a public meeting is planned to discuss imposing an ordinance that would paste a $10 fine on anybody who comes into the village in attire that doesn't cover him properly from the shoulders to a point midway between the hip and the knee.

Something simply has to be done. The cops have already had to warn one man whose shorts were three inches too high, and a woman whose halter had slipped beyond the danger point.

It seems to me that a $10 fine is a pretty feeble solution to this embarrassment and a confession of weakness. It would be better for the dowagers to wear blinders or smoked goggles on their trips to the village, and ignore the hoi polloi utterly.

Two other possibilities occur: 1. Make a real fight of it. Post butlers and gardeners, armed with pikestaffs and clubs, at the entrances to the village—and spear or whack down anyone approaching who doesn't wear formal dress. These tactics worked well in previous centuries. Why not again?

2. Show 'em by example. Let the prim dowagers and gentlemen of Southampton don bikinis and loincloths and parade through Shinnecock hills and other communities, demonstrating that even THEY too, look unattractive when dressed as Mr. and Mrs. Tarzan.

They might even take a tip from the late Ring Lardner who once wrote of how a club of elderly Florida shuffleboard players met a similar invasion. The old folks at their annual meeting passed a resolution raising the dues from 25 to 50 cents a year "to keep the riffraff out."

The eggs of the tinamou, a South American bird, are so shiny that Indians often use them as mirrors.

WASHINGTON (P)—Many more thousands of housewives and their part-time domestic employees — like maids, cooks, gardeners — must start paying a social security tax on their earnings in 1955.

That's because Congress recently changed the social security law covering domestic employees to bring more of them under the protection of the social security system.

The change goes into effect next Jan. 1. This is what it means, keeping in mind that the first calendar quarter is January through March.

After Jan. 1 a domestic employee earns as much as $50 from one employer in a three-month quarter, then both the employer and the employee must each pay a tax of 2 per cent — total of 4 per cent — on the employee's earnings.

In one quarter a domestic employee will not earn as much as $50 from one employer; in another quarter she may earn that much or more. The tax has to be paid for each quarter — but only that quarter — in which $50 or more is earned.

And if a domestic employee — say a one-day-a-week maid — works for several different housewives and earns as much as $50 from each of them in a quarter, then in each case where that much money was earned the individual housewife and the maid must pay the tax on what the maid earned from that housewife.

Under the present law — changed, beginning Jan. 1 — neither a housewife nor her maid had to pay a social security tax unless the maid worked for her at least 24 days in a quarter and earned at least $50 in that period.

Under the new law the number of days worked by any domestic employee for any housewife will make no difference. The only test whether tax has to be paid is whether the domestic earned $50 or more from the housewife. For example:

Mary Jones, who works as a maid one day a week for several housewives for $7 a day, misses some days because they don't need her or because she's ill. But say she worked for Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Kelly and Mrs. Adams in 1955's first quarter.

She earned more than $50 from each of them in that three-month period except Mrs. Adams, who didn't need her often. Mrs. Adams paid her $49.

Then Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Kelly must all pay a 2 per cent tax on Mary's earnings from them. And in each case Mary must match that by paying a 2 per cent tax also. On the $49 earned from Mrs. Adams neither Mrs. Adams nor Mary has to pay a tax.

In every case it is the housewife, not the maid, who must actually send in the tax money. The maid can give the housewife her share or the housewife can deduct the maid's share out of the maid's pay. The housewife can pay the maid's share as well as her own, if she wants to.

The payment must be given the government before the end of the month following the calendar quarter in which $50 or more was earned. For instance, the tax on the earnings of a domestic employee in the first quarter of 1955 must be paid before the end of April 1955.

The domestic employee — the maid in this case — must have a social security account number under the program. If she doesn't have it, she must get it. She can go about getting it this way:

Ask the local post office for Application Form SS-5. This is filled out and sent to the nearest social security field office. There are 512 of these offices.

In making the tax payment, the housewife will need Form 942. She can get this by writing to the district collector of internal revenue, with the explanation that she now has a domestic employee who qualifies for social security coverage.

For the guidance of housewives and domestic employees the government is preparing booklets of information and instruction. They should be ready before the first of the year.

ONE-FOURTH U. S. HIGH SCHOOLS NOW TEACH STUDENTS TO DRIVE

Lowering Mounting Traffic Toll Is Goal of the Instructors

A three-car smashup on Long Island's Grand Central parkway. Education can make such scenes rare.

By LEONARD J. SNYDER
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Thousands of high school teachers boned up on a new course this summer—one which may save the life of your child or even your own.

Their singular object was to help slash the soaring highway death toll which in the last five years alone has reached the almost unbelievable count of more than 178,000.

The task is not insurmountable. Reports compiled by the American Automobile association show that each year more and more teacher training institutions are offering summer courses in driving education to those already qualified to teach academic subjects.

Undoubtedly, the efforts of high school teachers who will put into practice next fall what they are learning this summer will pay high dividends — of the life-and-limb saving type.

In the school year just ended, for example, the AAA estimates that more than 425 lives were saved, 14,910 traffic injuries prevented and more than $42 million worth of property damage avoided as a direct result of driver education in our high schools.

Moreover, it's the belief of AAA experts — and surveys by official agencies bear this out — that driver education offers the greatest single potentiality for future safety on our highways. If you're a parent this is something you would do well to underscore in your mind.

ABOUT 6,500 high schools — one-fourth of the total — now offer a complete driver training course as a regular part of the school curriculum. In addition, several thousand more schools are offering classroom instruction without actual behind-the-wheel training.

Those largely credited with the rapidity and success of the driver education programs are school offers themselves and various civic and official organizations behind the nation's highway safety drive.

As the AAA points out, driver education is not just a matter of teaching a student how to handle the controls of a car. More important perhaps is the realization by the driver of his new responsibilities. This is what most good schools stress.

THEY EMPHASIZE the importance of courtesy and fair play toward other drivers — and pedestrians too. The mechanical skills of handling a car correctly are certainly not overlooked, however.

According to the AAA, a typical driver education course includes 34 hours of classroom work, eight hours of actual driving practice with an instructor, and another 24 hours of watching other students behind the wheel.

Science plays its part too. Most teachers find helpful the use of specially-designed pieces of equipment for testing eyesight under all light conditions, reaction time testing devices, simplified models of a car's mechanical features and mock-driving equipment.

There may still be a long way to go before every student is given the opportunity to enroll in a driver education course. However, as the AAA says, there is every reason to expect that the day will come when every top-notch high school in the land will offer such an opportunity — "an opportunity to live."

There are also other benefits in case a covered domestic employee dies before reaching 65. For example, a lump sum death payment to the spouse of the deceased domestic employee, ranging from a minimum of $90 to $255. And there are payments to a deceased domestic employee's children under 18.

Benefits in each case will depend on time worked under social security coverage and money earned.

The President's changed attitude has had the effect of weakening the Taft group, as a distinctive element, considerably. Senators Dworshak and Mundt could use Eisenhower's support and they will now undoubtedly have it.

Senator Ferguson, who had been a Taft stalwart at one time but who became dependent on Eisenhower in recent months to a degree that his friends wondered at his voting record, is now sure of reelection and has been absorbed in the Eisenhower leadership. Senator Bridges is safe in New Hampshire and Senator Knowland controls the party machine in California.

In a word, those who used to be called Taft Republicans are no longer politically frightened. The weak spots, New Jersey, Connecticut and Massachusetts, have not improved too much, however.

If President Eisenhower continues to fight as a partisan in the 1954 campaign, he will establish his leadership in the Republican Party for the 84th Congress and he will also establish the fact that he will be the Republican candidate in 1956.

Wild-Running Boat Captured

BRISTOL, R. I., (P)—A 16-foot skiff with an outboard motor threw two fishermen overboard yesterday and ran wild near 100 sailboats off the Bristol Yacht Club.

To keep from getting hit, Edward J. Sanchas and Joseph Martino, both 24, had to dive underwater each time their boat roared by with its throttle wide open. Two Bristol rescue squad boats made a vain attempt to halt the ram-paging craft.

The men finally swam to a sailboat as two Coast Guardsmen in a motor launch pursued the circling boat. One finally grabbed the bow and the other jumped aboard and shut off the engine.

IN PENNANT PICTURE: Indians Have Top Pitching

CLEVELAND INDIANS: Last pennant year, 1948, with record of 97-58. Managed for fourth year by Al Lopez. Leading hitters, Bob Avila, Al Rosen and Larry Doby. Top pitching in league headed by Mike Garcia, Bob Lemon and Early Wynn, with additional starters in Bob Feller and Art Houtteman. Relief chores by Rookies Don Mossi and Ray Narleski.

Kluszewski's Bat Gaining Chief Interest

CINCINNATI (AP)—Interest was high today on whether Terrible Ted Kluszewski will win the National League home run marathon.

Mighty Theodore slammed his 38th and 39th homers yesterday as the Redlegs trimmed the Philadelphia Phils, 3-2 and 8-4. Kluszewski's feat temporarily overshadowed interest in the Cincinnati effort to finish in fourth place.

The Rhinelanders are now two full games ahead of the fifth-place St. Louis Cards.

Kluszewski is tied with the New York Giants' Willie Mays in home run production. Along with his homers, one in each game, Ted got two singles, scored three runs and drove in three.

Kluszewski has now hit 11 home runs this month, has hit safely in 11 straight games and has collected 33 hits in his last 83 trips to the plate. He has also set a record for extra bases for one season by a Cincinnati player, 156, five more than his own mark last year.

In running their current victory streak to four, the Reds got sparkling support from the pitching, hitting and fielding departments.

Art Fowler outmastered the great Robin Roberts in the opener to notch his 11th win, scattering six Phils blows.

Fred Baczewski got credit for the nightcap, and he and reliever Frank Smith were helped along by Chuck Harmon who swatted a pair of doubles and a single, drove in two runs and scored one. The Reds got 13 hits off four Phil pitchers in the second game.

Durocher Lauds Dusty Rhodes

ST. LOUIS (AP)—My man Rhodes plays every day, every game. I don't give a hoot who pitches."

This was New York Giant Manager Leo Durocher speaking last night of James Lamar (Dusty) Rhodes, his 27-year-old outfielder who tied a major league record with six extra base hits against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Leo, who calls Rhodes a "come to play guy," gave Dusty the Giants' left field job on a regular basis right after the second game here was finished under the lights.

Monte Irvin, in a batting slump, will ride the bench. Rhodes had alternated with Irvin, appearing only against right handed pitchers.

Big Stock Car Parade Thursday Scheduled For Downtown Area

Mayor Robert E. Hedges has proclaimed Thursday as Stock Car Day in Circleville.

A gala motorcade of colorful stock cars will parade through the downtown area of the city from 5:30 p. m. to 6:30 p. m.

Police Chief Elmer Merriam has designated an official police escort for the parade which will form at the Fairgrounds and then come into town.

Radio, television and newspaper notables from Columbus will also be in the hour-long parade, the first of its kind in this area.

FOUR BEAUTIFUL Columbus models will be in Circleville for three days starting Tuesday to sell advance tickets. Each girl will be accompanied by two uniformed Veterans of Foreign Wars members.

The cream of stock car drivers will be entered in the Thursday night event at the Fairgrounds, according to publicist Doc Lemon.

"The Circleville Speedway has encountered unbelievable bad luck as far as weather has been concerned," Lemon noted. "Out of 16 events this season, we have had to cancel at least 16."

Lemon said the promoters had been very disappointed with the slim support people from this area have given their "home town" track.

Seed Of Doubt Begins Forming Among Yankees

Those Pesky Indians Continuing To Set Pace In AL Contest

By The Associated Press

The New York Yankees aren't conceding the American League flag to Cleveland but the first seed of doubt is beginning to grow in the minds of the defending champions.

This suspicion was gleaned from a remark by Allie Reynolds, veteran Yankee pitching star who helped in all five consecutive championships.

"If they (the Indians) continue at this terrific pace," he said, "they deserve to win."

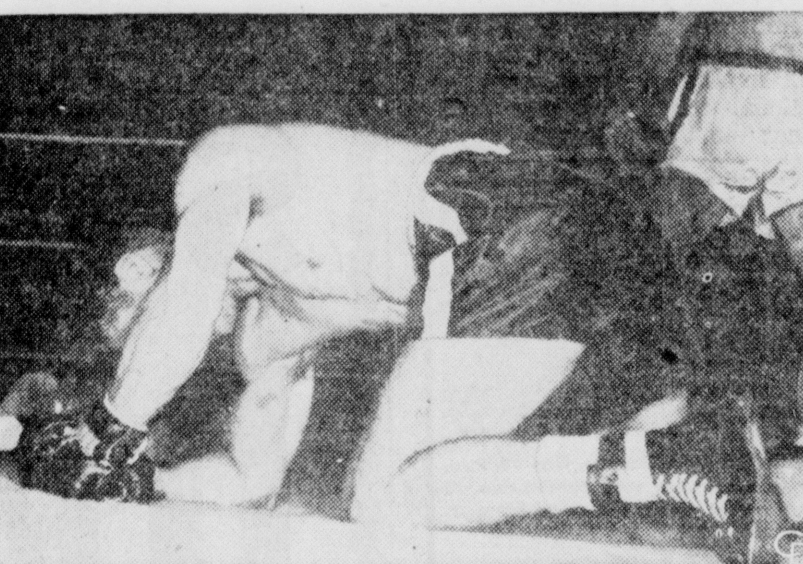

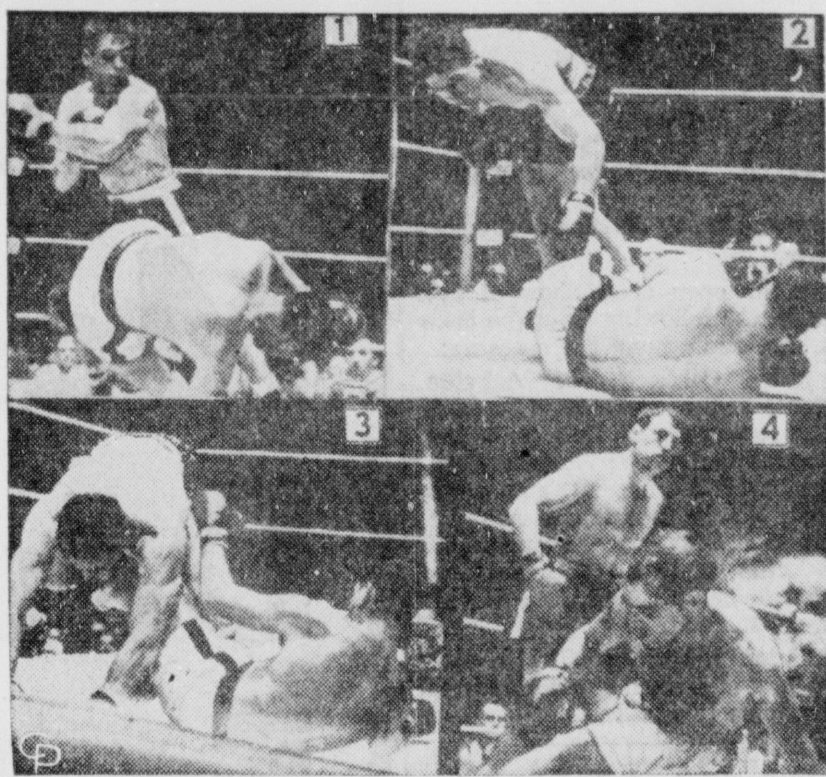

Reynolds was referring, of course, to Cleveland's sensational .721 winning percentage, a pace never before attained by an American League club. Should the Indians continue at this pace through the end of the season, they will smash the league record of 110 victories turned in by the 1927 Yankees.

The Yankees, traveling at a 600 pace, a feat never before reached by a runner-up club, defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-1 yesterday but they lost ground to the Indians. While the Yankees were winning their sixth straight, the Tribe was extending its own consecutive victory string to 10 in Boston's Fenway Park, walloping the Red Sox twice, 6-2 and 9-1.

This gave the Indians a four-game lead over the Yankees. Both teams have 25 left to play.

The National League pace continued to tighten as the onchancing Brooklyn Dodgers whipped the Braves in Milwaukee 12-4 and 11-4 to pull up to 1½ games behind the front-running New York Giants. The best the New Yorkers could do was gain a split in St. Louis after dropping an 11-inning 5-4 decision to the Cardinals. They overcame a 3-1 deficit to win the nightcap 7-4.

Cincinnati's Redlegs strengthened their hold on fourth place, defeating Philadelphia 3-2 and 8-4. Chicago's Cubs came from behind twice to sweep a twin bill from Pittsburgh 7-4 and 4-1.

DURING THEIR BRUISING, 15-round world's middleweight title fight in San Francisco's Cow Palace, Champion Bobo Olson and Challenger Rocky Castellani each bit the dust, but neither stayed out. The magic eye sequence (top) shows Olson being floored in the eleventh round, for a three-count. Rocky stumbled over his fallen foe. In the lower photo Castellani takes a nine-count on his knees in the twelfth round. Olson won a unanimous verdict and retains the middleweight title. (International Soundphotos)

In a wild double-header marred by a free-for-all, the Detroit Tigers took two from Philadelphia's Athletics 14-3 and 2-1 and wrested fourth place from the Red Sox by one percentage point. Baltimore, fresh from 16 losses in its last 17 games, surprised Washington with 8-4 and 5-0 victories.

In Boston, Bob Lemon scattered eight hits in the opener for Cleveland. It was his 11th straight victory and made him the majors' first 20-game winner. He and teammate Bob Feller are the only active six-time 20-game winners.

Until the sixth, when the Indians erupted for three runs on homers by Larry Doby (No. 29) and Vic Wertz (No. 10), Lemon was hooked up in a 2-2 pitching duel with rookie Tom Brewer. Wertz hit home run No. 11 in the second game to help Art Houtteman gain his 14th triumph with a six-hitter.

The Yankees finally beat Virgil Trucks on the hitting of Yogi Berra and the pitching of Whitey Ford. Ford hurled a neat six-hitter for his 15th victory. Berra doubled in the first two runs and scored another. Trucks was whipped the Yankees three times, two by shut-outs.

A capacity crowd of 45,922 crest-fallen Braves fans witnessed the Dodger sweep that dropped third-place Milwaukee 7½ lengths behind the Giants. The turnout boosted Milwaukee's home attendance to 1,841,666, setting a new National League record for the second successive year.

The Dodgers blasted 11 Milwaukee pitchers for 29 hits in the double-header. Four of them were homers, two by Duke Snider, one by Gil Hodges and one by Rube Walker. Snider batted in three runs in each game. The Brooks rang up eight runs in the 11th inning of the opener after the Braves had rallied for two runs in the ninth to tie the score at 4-4. Billy Loeb breezed to his 11th victory in 14 decisions with a nine-hitter in the nightcap.

Alex Grammas' 11th-inning single drove in the winning run for St. Louis in the opener after Stan Musial's second homer of the game had tied the score in the 10th inning. Dusty Rhodes, whose two triples had led to waste in the first game, led the Giants' attack in the second with two homers and two doubles. Willie Mays hit his 39th homer for New York in the opener.

Ted Kluszewski smashed two homers, his 38th and 39th, to tie Mays for the league lead in Cincinnati's double win. Rookie Art Fowler outpitched Robin Roberts, Philadelphia's 18-game winner, in the opener.

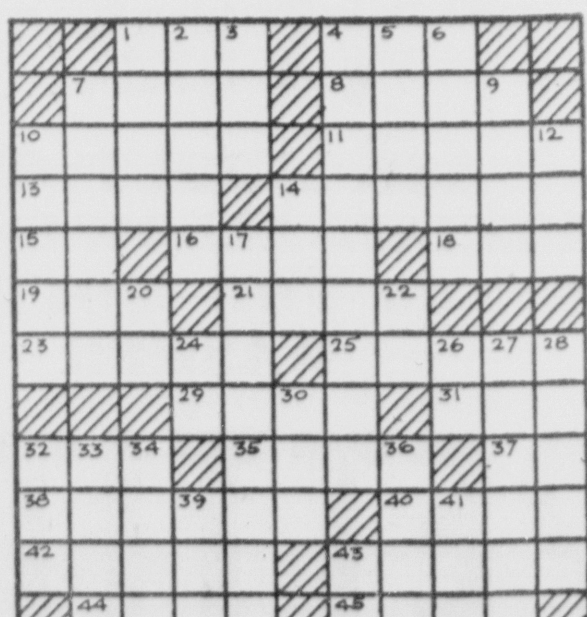

Bob Wilson hit two homers, one a grand slammer, doubled and drove in six runs to help Steve Gromek win his 15th game for Detroit. Gromek precipitated a near riot in the ninth when he charged out to Marion Fricano after the Philadelphia pitcher had hit him with a pitched ball in the ninth. Gromek threw several punches before the two combatants wrestled to the ground. Players from both benches joined the fracas. After peace was restored, both pitchers were ejected.

Oriole catcher Clint Courtney backed up Joe Coleman's shutout pitching against Washington with five hits in five at bats in the nightcap. Cal Abrams and Gil Coan had three hits apiece in Baltimore's first-game victory.

Byron Nelson won eight straight golf tournaments in 1945. Harold (Jug) McSpaden was second in three of the tournaments.

Gavilan Favored To Defend Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan goes after his 100th victory Wednesday night as a 1-2 favorite to beat Brooklyn's Johnny Saxton in a title bout in Philadelphia.

Beaten in his first bid for the century by middleweight king Bobo Olson last April, the Kid is supremely confident he will give the 24-year-old Saxton a drubbing.

The 15-pounder in Connie Mack Stadium will be the clever, 28-year-old Cuban's eighth defense of the 147-pound crown he won three years ago from Johnny Bratton. Bratton, too, was the last man to challenge the Kid for the welterweight title and Gavilan whipped him handily in November.

How'd You Like to Go To School to Learn to Kiss Beautiful Girls?

Best lesson comes in learning from an accomplished performer. Here seasoned Barbara Stanwyck coaches Lori Nelson.

By FRED HIFT
Central Press Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD—"I love you," the girl whispered tenderly. Her arms encircled the boy slowly and they kissed.

The group of youngsters sitting in a semi-circle on Stage 7 at the Universal-International studios broke into appreciative applause as the couple, somewhat self-consciously, retreated to their places.

As far as Universal is concerned, the art of kissing, like most things in movie acting, just doesn't come naturally. The studio's executives feel the budding screen star of today has to be fully equipped in all departments, and that covers a lot more ground than just glamor and good looks.

Universal at the moment is the only company in busy Movietown to back up its conviction. It runs a "talent farm" at a cool $1,000,000 a year and without definite prospects of profit.

Actually, the Universal project already has paid rich dividends.

From it have sprung distinctive young performers like Shelley Winters, Jeff Chandler, Audie Murphy, Piper Laurie, Tony Curtis and Rock Hudson.

Both Curtis and Hudson, as well as Chandler, are well on their way to stardom. But even as they tackle important parts in Universal movies, they spend spare time in "school," adding to their already considerable experience.

Chandler, an accomplished dramatic actor, recently showed up for singing lessons.

Students—there are about 24 of them right now—have their days and even nights pretty well planned for them.

County Drive Nets $2,700 For Polio

Pickaway County, with only Circleville and three rural townships reporting, has thus far netted $2,700 in the Emergency March of Dimes Drive.

The drive will continue through Tuesday, according to officials of the drive. They said most of the other townships had not completed their soliciting yet.

The officials said they were sure the response from the area not yet reported would match that of Circleville and Monroe, Deercreek and Darby Townships.

A list of the results of "enthusiastic" campaigns in the four areas which have reported include: Circleville, $1,788.98; Monroe, $248.54; Deercreek, $231.40; and Darby, $217.69.

ACCORDING to officials of the drive, a complete list of townships and the amount of funds raised in each will be published as soon as all soliciting is finished and final reports are in.

Anyone wishing to mail a contribution can do so by addressing it to:

Emergency March of Dimes
c/o Joe Wilson, Inc.
N. Court St.
Circleville, Ohio

In making a contribution in this manner, officials ask that the sender's township be specified so that the correct area will be given the proper credit.

The emergency drive is being held because of the greater need for funds in fighting the crippling disease. Most authorities believe cures or at least good preventative measures are on the threshold of development.

TEARS are in order for Janet Sarver, 25, shown in custody in Los Angeles. She said her crippled husband was jobless and her three children were hungry so she robbed a liquor store, getting $189. She was captured when she parked her car near a sheriff's station. Before the liquor store job, she tried to hold up a gas station, but attendant didn't believe her, told her to beat it. How'd You Like to Go To School to Learn to Kiss Beautiful Girls?

Best lesson comes in learning from an accomplished performer. Here seasoned Barbara Stanwyck coaches Lori Nelson.

By FRED HIFT

Central Press Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—"I love you," the girl whispered tenderly. Her arms encircled the boy slowly and they kissed.

The group of youngsters sitting in a semi-circle on Stage 7 at the Universal-International studios broke into appreciative applause as the couple, somewhat self-consciously, retreated to their places.

As far as Universal is concerned, the art of kissing, like most things in movie acting, just doesn't come naturally. The studio's executives feel the budding screen star of today has to be fully equipped in all departments, and that covers a lot more ground than just glamor and good looks.

Universal at the moment is the only company in busy Movietown to back up its conviction. It runs a "talent farm" at a cool $1,000,000 a year and without definite prospects of profit.

Actually, the Universal project already has paid rich dividends.

From it have sprung distinctive young performers like Shelley Winters, Jeff Chandler, Audie Murphy, Piper Laurie, Tony Curtis and Rock Hudson.

Both Curtis and Hudson, as well as Chandler, are well on their way to stardom. But even as they tackle important parts in Universal movies, they spend spare time in "school," adding to their already considerable experience.

Chandler, an accomplished dramatic actor, recently showed up for singing lessons.

Students—there are about 24 of them right now—have their days and even nights pretty well planned for them.

Discipline is strict. Skipping classes could well result in the cancellation of contracts after the initial six-month period.

The budding Thespians are coached in everything from voice, diction and singing to ballet, make-up and horseback riding.

The acting department is presided over by coach Estelle Harmon, whose progress reports to studio executives bear on whether a fledgling star is to get a part.

The entrance exam to the Universal talent school is pretty stiff. The applicant is looked over by Miss Harmon and various executives.

Only if they can't decide on a contract, a screen test is ordered. It costs around $3,000 to run such a test.

ONCE A YEAR, usually in the late spring, Universal stages a bang-up show called "Inside U-I" which puts its talent roster on parade for the other studios.

Producers and directors from other companies attend these song-and-dance sessions.

At the Universal studio, the trainees are used in films on every possible occasion. Each part is better and more important than the last.

Occasionally this evidence of success will go to someone's head and he or she'll lapse into what fellow trainees refer to as "star mannerisms." That's the fastest way of getting the brush-off from the casting director.

Does Universal mind when its new stars are snapped up by other studios?

"We're naturally proud of our 'stable.' The movies need new acting blood. And what's good for us should be good for the rest of Hollywood."

URW workers will get a raise of 6 1/2 cents hourly.

The union is in the third week of a strike against the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. and the U. S. Rubber Co.

County Drive Nets $2,700 For Polio

Pickaway County, with only Circleville and three rural townships reporting, has thus far netted $2,700 in the Emergency March of Dimes Drive.

The drive will continue through Tuesday, according to officials of the drive. They said most of the other townships had not completed their soliciting yet.

The officials said they were sure the response from the area not yet reported would match that of Circleville and Monroe, Deer Creek and Darby Townships.

A list of the results of "enthusiastic" campaigns in the four areas which have reported include: Circleville, $1,788.98; Monroe, $248.54; Deer Creek, $231.40; and Darby, $217.69.

ACCORDING to officials of the drive, a complete list of townships and the amount of funds raised in each will be published as soon as all soliciting is finished and final reports are in.

Anyone wishing to mail a contribution can do so by addressing it to:

Emergency March of Dimes
c/o Joe Wilson, Inc.
N. Court St.
Circleville, Ohio

In making a contribution in this manner, officials ask that the sender's township be specified so that the correct area will be given the proper credit.

The emergency drive is being held because of the greater need for funds in fighting the crippling disease. Most authorities believe cures or at least good preventative measures are on the threshold of development.

TEARS are in order for Jannet Sarver, 25, shown in custody in Los Angeles. She said her crippled husband was jobless and her three children were hungry so she robbed a liquor store, getting $189. She was captured when she parked her car near a sheriff's station. Before the liquor store job, she tried to hold up a gas station, but attendant didn't believe her, told her to beat it.
